Death of Miss Luza Hughes, M. D. Miss Eliza Hughes, M. D., the well-known lady homeopathis, left the city Saturday afternoon to visit one of her patients who lived near: Portland, Ohio. Shortly after six o'clock intelligence reached her friends here that she has suddenly died, at about six o'clock; not far from Portland station. The canse was at first supposed to be apoplexy, but yesterday it was stated that an electrical shock received during the heavy thunder storm was the inducing cause. Miss Hughes was a sister of Mr. Thomas Hugnes, and had attained quite an eminent position in the practice of homeopathy, being particularly successful in treating children. Her services were in great demand for miles around Wheeling, and she had won the confluence and esteem of a wide and numerous circle of acquaintances, all of whom will be shocked to hear of her sudden demise. Her body was brought to the city yesterday afternoon, and the funeral will take place from the residence of a relative on Main street to-morrow afternoon. Death of Miss Luza Hughes, M. D.

Gloomy Outlook in Connection Wish the Iron Industry.

The proposed lock-out, or strike, in the iron mills, continues to be the principal theme of conversation among all classes of people, and it has been thoroughly canvassed from all points of view. While both parties present a firm front, there is an undercur rent which sets in favor of a compromise The Briceland-Clator race promises to be

A manufacturer told a reporter last night that one of the members of the conference committee on behalf of the Association had been heard to obenly denounce the action of the Amalgamation. On the other hand, there is a prospect that one or two of the mills of this district will concede the Association's demands. It is said on good authority that Mr. Whitaker, of the Crescent sheet from mill, is ready to agree to the demands of the workmen with one slight amendment. The employes made a demand for an additional fifty cents per ton on account of the cluder "lix" used in the mill, and wanted the number of heats reduced from six to five during the heated term. These matters do not affect the scale, and Mr. Whitaker said Saturday night that an effort was being made to adjust them satisfactorily to both sides, when the scale would be signed. He is ready to sign the new scale for sheet workers whenever these two demands are withdrawn.

Our Moundsville correspondent is annihority for the statement that, the assistant engineer of the rolling mill there is reported as stating that Mr. Kloman told him that he lad applications from a sufficient number of non-union ment to operate two or three mills like the Mounsville mill.

THE TONGUE AND TEMPER.

u Interesting Sermon Belivered Yes terday by Rev. J. B. Mulford. Below we give extracts and a brief synop sis of a sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. J. B. Mulford, of the First Baptist urch, which is very apropos in these day church, which is very apospos in these days of blasphenty and slander.

The reverend gentleman-took his text from Matt. V; 33-48, the theme being, "The Tongue and the Temper." He commenced by saying, "Three great evils are the bane of the human kind; the tongue, the temper and an evil heart. The two former are only evils by reason of perversion, for both tongue and temper have a divine mission and are capable of being employed in behalf of the most glorious usefulness. The tongue isof God by way of creation, but it is not for God by way of employment. The temper was first of all a noble and enthusiastic spirit of strong and holy purpose, nerving and firing the soul to services out of the original programme, the best with the west in the case of the case of children or to the parents; in our business life; in our social life, how we join the 'rabble and pursue the unfortunate, and often by our words kick those who are down. How much wrong is done by the tongue that eternity cannot efface; for instance, the tongue of a talebearer taking up a reproach against his neighbor and giving it wings; that of the slanderer blasting a fair name; that of the scandal monger, and the insinuator and gossips. Words make earth heaven or hell. Words are immortal, as Longfellow so beautifully set forth in his poem commencing,

"I shot an arrow into the air And I fell to earth, I know not where."

God has put lipsand teeth before the tongue as a double guard to keep it from doing harm. As you fear the judgment, beware of blasphemy, gossip and slander; of unkind flings and cruel insinuations, "for by thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."

Second—The law of retailation, or the law of Moses, "an eye for an eye, etc.," was taken up and the perverted uses it was put to reviewed. We as Christians are only to resist evil with good; to yield to wrong is weakness, to resist with a passiveness that comes from Christ's love is heroism of the mobiest type.
Peace on earth is the aim of Christianity; this world cannot produce it, for it is an enemy to Christ; the Christian alone can secure it by patiently submitting to wrong that the life, of faith necessitates. Leave vengeance to God, where it belongs. Our only duty is to live out from day to day the principles of the religion of good will and peace.
In closing Rev, Mulford touched as his third topic; the "Law of Esteem," in a masierful manner, basing his remarks mainly on the verse, "but is ay unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and persecute you."

Sunday was an occasion celebrated with more than ordinary solemnity at the German Church. A class of young people were constructed in their membership and were received into full communion. The church was very tastefully decorated with flowers and plants. Among the most beautiful designs was a large star suspended in the centre of the church, made entirely of pure white flowers. Preparatory services were held in the church Saturday evening.

Bustard's coal shaft, in the upper part of the city, took fire down the hole saturday at noon. The entire frame work to the top of the shaft burned away. Great excitement existed for a while, as all the diggers were down, and it depended on which portion of the shaft they were in whether they could reach the second outlet or not. Fears were allayed, however, about one o'clock, as every man was then out. The fire was still burning. Loss not estimated.
